Letter from Mr. Keuthner

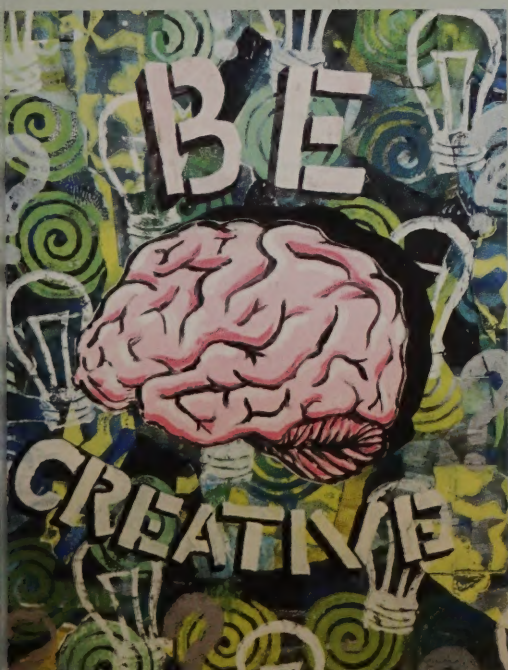

Class of 2019,

We have spent the year discussing your significant role in building our sense of community at Marshfield High School. You have spent 4 incredible years at our school. You have been challenged to celebrate difference, to work together, to care for others, to value respect, and to be responsible young men and women. It is time for you to now go forth to forge that same community on a much larger scale. Imagine our town, the South Shore, our Commonwealth, our country and our world as communities encompassed by these same characteristics. Go forth, accept this challenge, build community, and make a change that matters.

I am proud of all of your accomplishments.

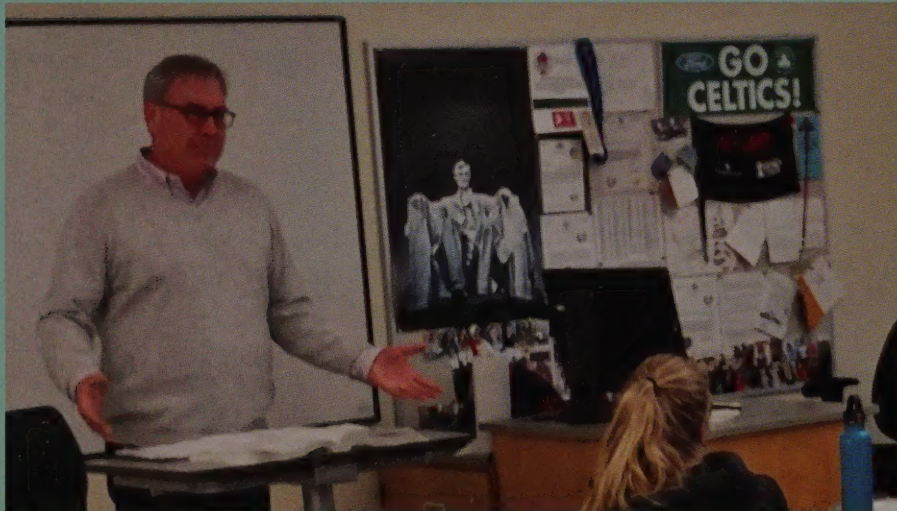

Best Regards,

Mr. K.

2019 Yearbook Dedication

John Kopp
Ben Raymond
Steve Waisgerber

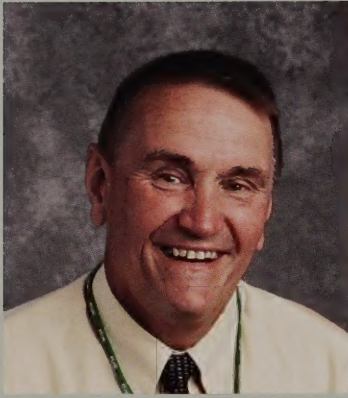

Mr. Raymond as Santa Claus

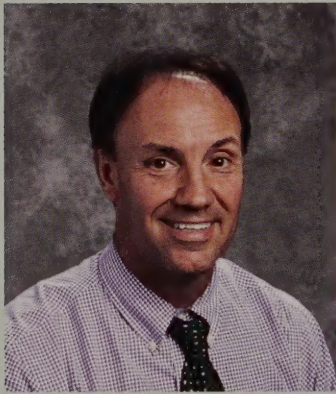

These three teachers were chosen by the Class of 2019 for their many kindnesses, for their energy, in and out of class, and for their continued focus on the academic and personal success of each of their students.

Background Image by Elisabeth Donoghue

The background is a complex, abstract pattern of red, blue, and purple. The pattern consists of irregular, overlapping shapes and textures, giving it a marbled or stained appearance. On the left side, there is a large, white, curved shape that resembles a stylized letter 'C' or a partial circle. This shape has a thick black outline and some internal black lines, suggesting it might be a stylized figure or a decorative element. The overall composition is dynamic and visually busy.

Letter From Class Advisors

Ms. Alongi &
Ms. Teebagy

To the Class of 2019,

It's truly amazing to think graduation is right around the corner and this is one of your last senior events. The last four years of your high school career have gone by in the blink of an eye! While sitting down and collecting our thoughts for this goodbye letter, we were unsure of where to start. We both have so many great memories from our time working with all of you. But, like every good writer should, we sat down, brainstormed, and decided we wanted to focus not just on the amazing memories we've shared with you over our time together, but to also share what our hopes are for you in the future.

It seems like just yesterday that it was September 2015 and we were all gathered in the MHS auditorium for our first class meeting. During this time, Mr. Keuther went to great lengths to explain how important the next four years would be as a means of achieving personal, emotional, and educational growth. You were all so young and just getting started on your high school career. Many of you went off to join different sports teams, clubs, organizations and courses--some of which you would stick with for all four years, while others you tried and realized weren't for you. Here at MHS, you were encouraged to get involved and experience new things. This has been a safe space for you to try, maybe fail, and then succeed at what you love, all the while being surrounded by a team of MHS faculty that have been there to advise and help you out along the way. We have all enjoyed watching you grow and mature over the past few years here, knowing your journey is far from over.

Both of us want you to consider not only all of the important people you've met, but the essential skills and material you've learned over the last four years. Your ability to communicate, work cooperatively, problem solve, and utilize time management are some of the essential tools you are going to need to be successful in your future endeavors. Being able to effectively implement these skills with ease serves as proof of your personal and academic growth. These are qualities that can be taken with you anywhere; higher education, the workplace, armed services or off to your next great adventure. Perhaps, without you realizing it, the discovery of who you are as a student and a person has been transpiring every single day you made the decision to walk through the front door of this building.

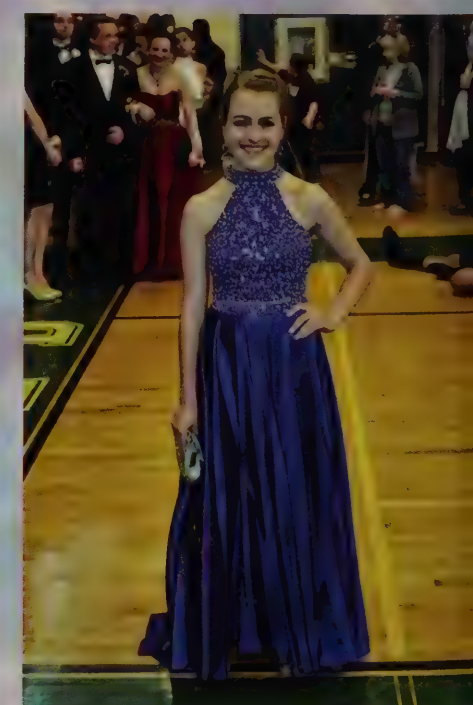

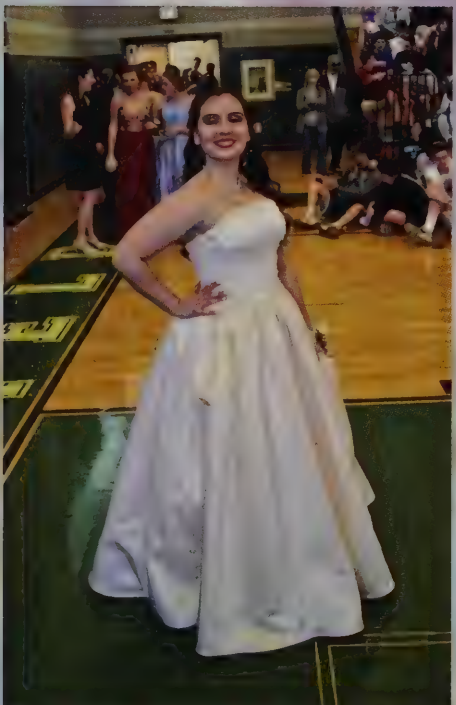

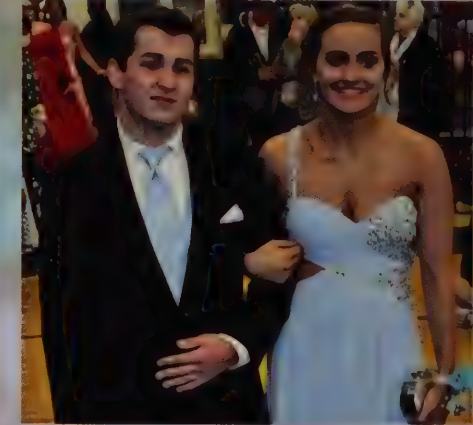

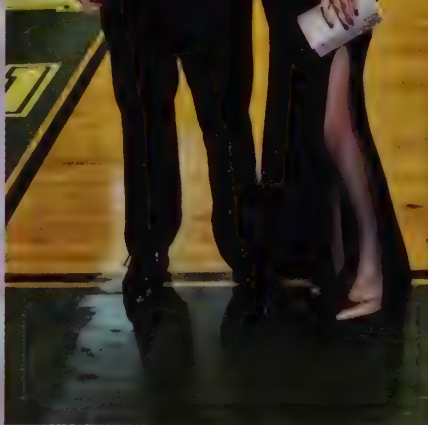

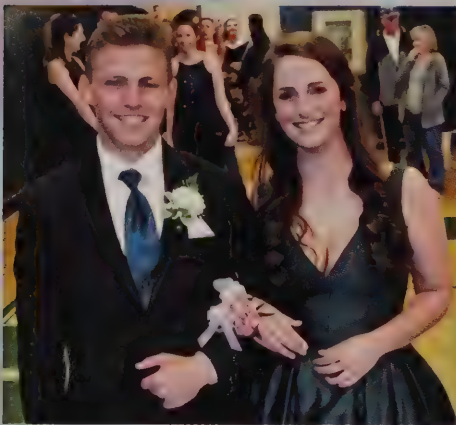

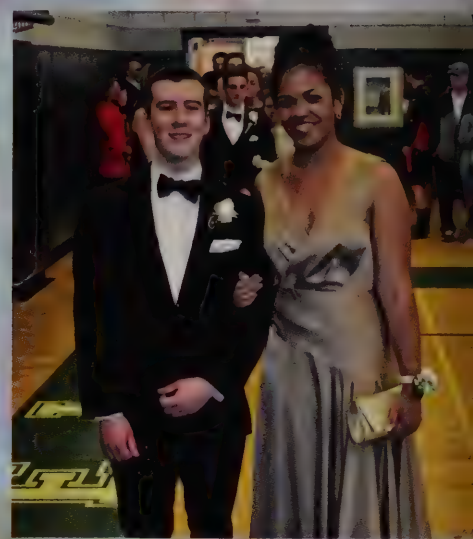

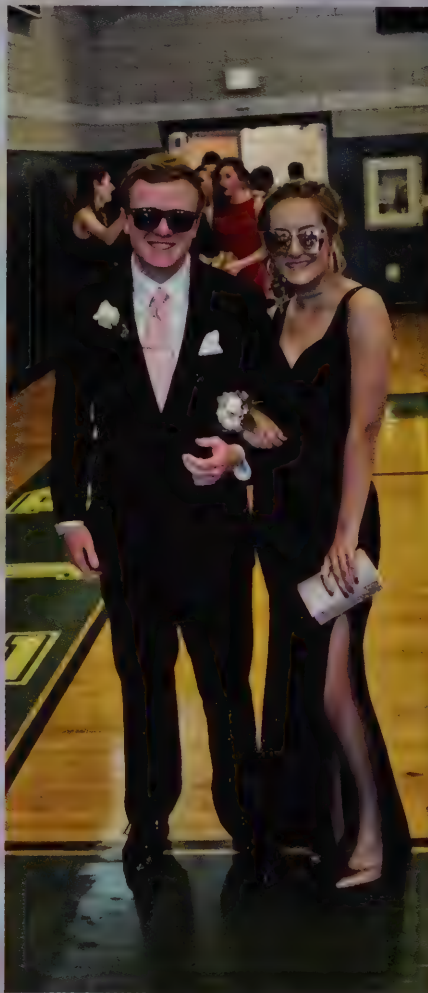

Rosalie Celino

Having said that, as you prepare for your future outside the halls of MHS, we want everyone to reflect on the time you've spent turning this community into your home. Pause and appreciate all the friends and relationships you have made here, some since elementary school. Our hope is that even though you will leave this wonderful place that you will remain close and continue to support each other well into the future. You have spent the last four years getting to know one another. These are the familiar faces that have brought you solace and comfort when you needed it most. Be sure to spend the next few weeks surrounded by friends and family soaking up the last few months of Marshfield, but don't ever forget where it is you come from as it's such an important part of who you are.

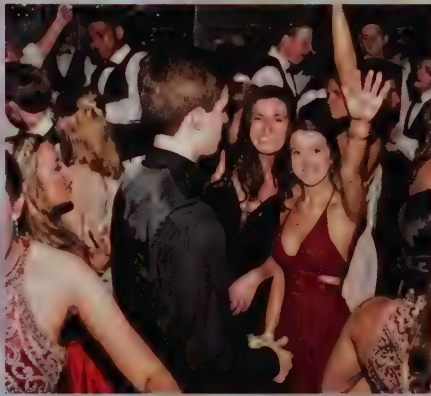

Now, we want you to look towards your future remembering there is no need to let go of the past as you move forward. Instead, try to weave your past into your future. Be true to who you are, while acknowledging that growth and change are a part of life. Your advisors and everyone else here at MHS want you to take advantage of every opportunity that is presented to you. Take risks. Ask questions. Never accept defeat. Learn from your failures so they are successes in the future. You are all prepared to start this new chapter of your life. Remember, MHS will always be here to welcome you back; but more importantly, we will forever be cheering you on to go out and show the world what you are truly made of. We wish you the best of luck in all that you decide to do. Class of 2019, Congratulations!

The Stranger in the Photo is Me - By Rachel Ostiguy

I find myself flipping through my family album often. Birthdays, Christmases, vacations, all frozen in time allowing me to transport back years at the flip of a page. I've come across a particular photograph taken Christmas morning of 2008. This stands out to me because Christmas mornings are special, only coming once a year. However, lately, I feel the excitement of these mornings slipping away. Each Christmas morning comes and goes and with each passing one, my enthusiasm for the occasion fades. But looking at this photograph, there is no excitement lost. My youthful eyes squint with joy and my smile spreads as wide as my mouth will stretch.

However, the person in that photograph no longer exists--and it's difficult remembering that she ever did, even when that person is yourself. Change is inevitable as time passes which means that you won't be who you always were, and eventually, you stop remembering who that person once was. You don't get to pinpoint where your changes occur. You never feel it happen. You don't forget who you were and how you felt yesterday, or last week, or even last month. But look at a picture from years ago and you will find yourself looking at a stranger. The girl I see in this photo--pale skin, goofy smile, messy hair--is not me. Red plaid pajama dress running down to the floor. I can't remember the last time I wore pajamas. But how can one not recognize themselves?

I had no idea of what was to come. The girl in the photograph still believed in Santa and wouldn't dream of the day someone told her he's not real. The girl in the photograph had no idea school would become so difficult. The girl in the photograph had no idea that some friends won't be there for her forever. And all these things, the innocent girl in the photograph did not know, makes her a stranger to me. And soon, although hard to believe, the person I am at this moment will be a stranger to who I am in the future.

My dearest Rachel: Here are a few promises to take you on your journey: Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct your path. Proverbs 3:5,6

We are hard pressed on every side but not crushed; perplexed but not in despair; persecuted but not abandoned; struck down but not destroyed--2Cor 4:8

POLAR VORTEX BRINGS ARCTIC COLD WEATHER

A polar vortex brought record low temperatures and wind chill values in the 40s, 50s and 60s below zero to much of the Midwest and Northeast. Because the extreme arctic cold causes frostbite within minutes, schools, colleges and universities closed, and the U.S. Postal Service suspended mail delivery in parts of 10 states.

LEBRON OPENS NEW SCHOOL IN HOMETOWN

The I Promise School, a collaboration between the LeBron James Family Foundation and Akron Public Schools, opened its doors to 240 3rd and 4th graders in Ohio. Students in the 2018-19 inaugural class received free uniforms, meals, bicycles and guaranteed tuition for graduates to the University of Akron. More and more people are jumping on the podcast bandwagon. There are now over half a million podcasts and growing even though it's been around for over a decade. From celebrities, athletes, bloggers and more, everyone wants in on the fun.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE BECOMES MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

The world cheered when a daring 3-day rescue operation with 90 expert divers successfully guided the Wild Boars soccer team out of Thailand's Tham Luang cave system and back to safety. The 12 boys and their coach were trapped for 17 days in underground passageways after heavy rains flooded their exit.

SLEEPING IN FOR SUCCESS

Researchers at the University of Washington studied chronically sleep-deprived Seattle teens as 18 high schools and most middle schools pushed their start times back from 7:50 to 8:45 a.m. Sleep on school nights increased from 6 hours and 50 minutes to 7 hours and 24 minutes, resulting in a 4.5% increase in grades and an improvement in attendance.

AMERICAN MAN IS FIRST TO COLD ACROSS ANTARCTICA

Colin O'Brady, of Oregon, became the first person to complete the 930-mile bone-chilling journey across Antarctica without assistance. O'Brady shared his epic 54-day adventure with 30,000 school kids, family and friends as he documented the entirely uphill journey, called The Impossible First, on his Instagram page.

EARTHQUAKE HITS ALASKA

A 7.0 earthquake rocked Alaska near Anchorage, the state's most populated city. The initial impact produced shaking in a 30-mile radius, with ground movement felt 250 miles away in Fairbanks. The impact damaged homes, buildings, roads and bridges, leaving more than 50,000 people without phone service or power. It's the worst earthquake to hit the area since 1964, the result of an unnamed fault 27 miles deep inside the Earth's crust.

2018 IS HOTTEST ON RECORD

Countries across the globe experienced unusually high summer temperatures. Asia was the hardest hit, along with northern Europe, the U.S. and Canada—which recorded temperatures similar to the Middle East or Africa. Even the Arctic Circle didn't escape the heat, with dozens of wildfires in the region. Nuclear plants had to scale back energy production or shut down entirely to prevent reactors from overheating.

SAVE THE BEES

Bees play an essential role in our ecosystem but sadly, their population has been in a constant decline since the late 90s. One of the reasons for this is the use of harmful pesticides in industrial agriculture. Canada has taken the first steps to protect the bees by phasing out certain outdoor pesticides that are linked to killing the bee population. This change is expected to happen by 2021.

HURRICANE MICHAEL'S DESTRUCTION

Hurricane Michael made landfall as a Category 4 storm and caused extensive damage to the Florida Panhandle, Georgia, Virginia and the Carolinas. With wind speeds of more than 150 mph, Michael produced 14-foot storm surges in coastal areas and dumped up to 12 inches of rain.

Nearly 2 billion people across the globe watched the royal wedding of England's Prince Harry and American actress Meghan Markle in St. George's Chapel at Windsor Castle. The couple became the Duke and Duchess of Sussex after the ceremony, titles conferred by Queen Elizabeth II. Five months later, it was announced they are expecting a baby in spring 2019.

TESTING TESLA'S TUNNELS

The Boring Company created a 1.14-mile tunnel about 30 feet below the ground's surface near Hawthorne, CA. Resembling an underground highway, test runs with a Tesla Model X traveled at 40 mph. Future iterations will be faster and smoother, requiring electric cars to avoid fumes from gas.

SAY GOODBYE TO PLASTIC STRAWS

Plastic straws started to become a thing of the past as companies like McDonald's, Starbucks, Shake Shack and the city of Seattle enacted bans to reduce the environmental impact in landfills and oceans. Demand for the green alternative, paper straws, has seen a 5,000% increase—which is great news for Aardvark, the sole maker in America.

CHINA LANDS ON FAR SIDE OF MOON

China made history with the first-ever soft landing on the far side of the moon. Chang'e-4, a 6-wheeled rover, landed in the southern section of the Von Kármán crater. Scientists hope to better understand the structure, formation and evolution of Earth's natural satellite. China has ambitions for future crewed lunar missions, and wants a space station up and running by the early 2020s.

COULD THE SAHARA DESERT BECOME GREEN?

What if the Sahara Desert was transformed into a giant solar and wind farm? A new study suggests that hypothetical solar panels and wind turbines would make the immediate surroundings warmer and rainier. This would turn parts of the Sahara green for the 1st time in 4,500 years, with precipitation levels similar to Greece or Argentina.

UNDERGROUND LAKE FOUND ON MARS

Scientists discovered what appears to be a sizable salt-laden lake under the ice on the south pole of Mars. The 12-mile wide reservoir is located a mile beneath the ice's surface and may contain a habitat for microbial life. While the lake is currently unverified, it's a significant milestone in the quest to determine if there is life on Mars.

GOOD DOG MAY SAVE ENDANGERED OWL

Tasmanian masked owls are one of Australia's most elusive endangered bird species. Because they are nocturnal and live in inaccessible forests, only 30 have been identified from 850 recent attempts. The Difficult Birds Research Group has trained a dog named Zorro to sniff out pellets coughed up by the owls. The hope is that Zorro will lead scientists to the rare birds for conservation research.

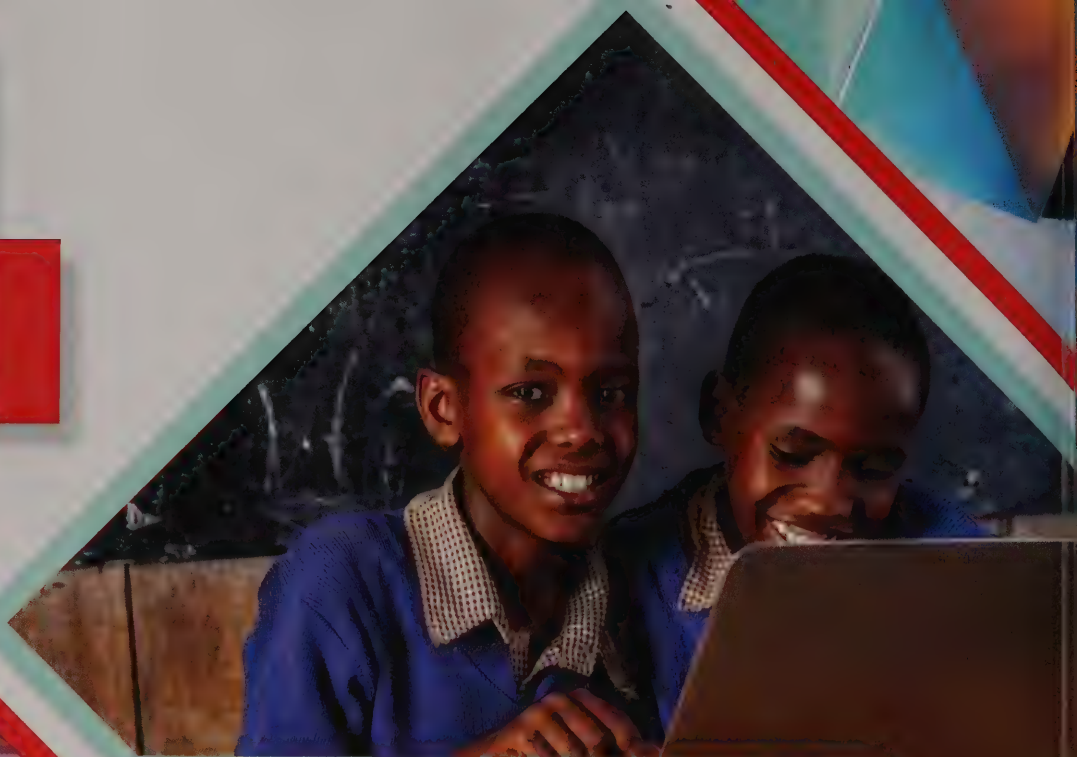

IT'S TIME FOR SLIME

Slime is having a moment. While the exact ingredients are up for debate, the popularity is not. If you search "slime" on YouTube, you'll get 29 million results and Instagram has 20 million posts. The types of slime are endless with fluffy, rainbow-colored, glitter, sequined and more.

LONGEST "BLOOD MOON" ECLIPSE OF THE 21ST CENTURY

A blood-red moon provided picture-perfect moments as it moved into the Earth's shadow for 1 hour, 42 minutes and 57 seconds, the longest lunar eclipse of the 21st century. The nickname "blood moon" comes from the red color caused by projections of the Earth's sunrises and sunsets onto its surface. If you missed it, you'll have to wait. The next eclipse of that length is due in 2123.

NEW INTERNET MILESTONE REACHED

A record 3.9 billion people were online in 2019, representing a transformative new milestone in the digital revolution. It's the first time over half of the world's population will be using the Internet. The largest rate of growth comes from Africa, which has increased from 2% in 2005 to 24% this year. The milestone is not only historic, but also important as people can gain access to critical healthcare and educational services online.

STREAMING ONLINE CONTENT SOARS

Consumer streaming content on Netflix, Prime Video and Hulu represents the entertainment industry's biggest shift in nearly 50 years. People not only watch shows in their living rooms, but also on laptops, tablets and smartphones. Netflix is the leader, with 130 million subscribers, but will soon have new competition. Disney plans to enter the market, backed by the power of Pixar, Marvel, Star Wars and other top brands.

TRIBUTE TO A TECHNOLOGY PIONEER

The technology world lost a visionary with the passing of Paul Allen, who co-founded Microsoft with Bill Gates in 1975. Their contributions helped create the personal computer revolution. Allen's philanthropy was significant, with initiatives benefiting science, arts, pro sports, space exploration, global health and conservation.

AN INVISIBILITY CLOAK IS IN OUR FUTURE

Who knew it took science and light, rather than magic, to create a real invisibility cloak? Researchers discovered that altering the way colored light waves go through objects makes it possible for those objects to look invisible. While we can't wear Harry Potter-style invisibility cloaks yet, it could be used for future government endeavors.

APPLE BECOMES WORLD'S FIRST TRILLION DOLLAR COMPANY

Apple became the world's first trillion-dollar company following a 3rd quarter report that showed earnings beating expectations, plus a strong performance by its service and software businesses. The technology giant's worth is now larger than the economies of Turkey and Switzerland.

NOTHING FISHY ABOUT THIS GUT

Inspired by the bodies of diving insects, materials scientist Jun Kamei created AMPHIBIO, a lightweight 3D-printed garment that functions as a giant gill. It allows the wearer to pull oxygen from an aqueous environment and breathe it in. The goal is to eliminate heavy scuba equipment and the next step is to test on humans.

FOLDABLE SMARTPHONE IS ALSO A TABLET

The Samsung X is ready to revolutionize the smartphone market. It's a 7.3" tablet when fully opened and a 4.58" phone when closed. The device uses a new technology called Infinity Flex Display that allows the user to open and close it repeatedly without wearing down. The goal is for battery life to last as long as current Galaxy smartphones, despite the increase in screen size.

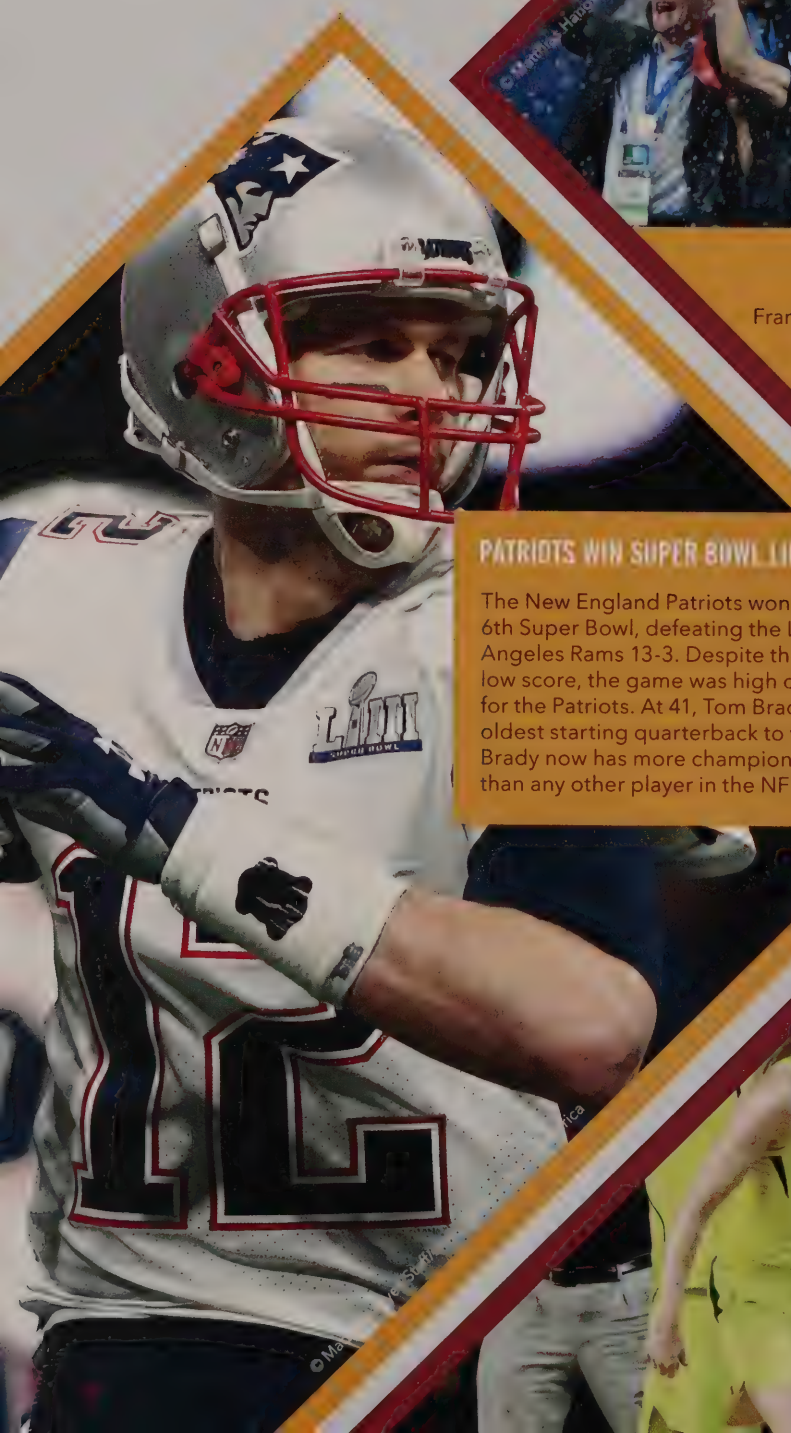

ROBOT SAILS INTO HISTORY

The SB Met journeyed 1,800 miles from Canada to Ireland, becoming the first unmanned robotic sailboat to cross the Atlantic. More than 20 previous attempts ended in failure as boats got caught in fishing nets or were lost. The goal is to cut costs for ocean research and border security in rough or remote waters.
